

Sage Fixed Assets Supplemental Product or Services Terms

Supplemental Product or Service	Supplemental Terms
Hosting Services	If You outsource the Software to a Hosting Services Provider for the sole purpose of enabling the Hosting Services Provider to provide to You operational and administrative functions (the “Services”) through Your server and client environment using the Software, which You outsource to Hosting Services Provider, the EULA is subject to the following additional terms (“Additional Terms”): <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Sage hereby grants to You limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable permission under all present and future domestic and foreign copyrights, patents, trade secrets, know-how, trademarks, and all other proprietary rights of Sage: (a) to permit access to the Software by Hosting Services Provider; and (b) to permit Hosting Services Provider to use the installed Software solely to perform the Services on behalf of You and for the exclusive use of You.</li> <li>2. Nothing in these Additional Terms shall be construed as extending or modifying the existing terms and conditions of the EULA or permitting Hosting Services Provider to use, sublicense, copy, or otherwise distribute the Product to or on its own behalf or to or on behalf of any third party with the exception of You</li> <li>3. You agree that Sage shall have no liability whatsoever for any failure associated with the Services or Your use of the Hosting Services Provider, even if the party You engage was referred to You by Sage. You acknowledge and agree that You have chosen the Hosting Services Provider, and that such Hosting Services Provider is an independent party and not an agent of Sage. Hosting Services Provider is not authorized to make any warranty with respect to the Software, and You may not rely on any such unauthorized warranty.</li> </ol>
Use Restrictions	For each Single-User License that You purchase, You may Use one copy of the Software for a

	single named user at a single location. For each Site License that You purchase, You may Use the Software for each named user at a single location for which the Site License has been purchased. For each Network License that You purchase, You may Use the Software on a single network server or central computer which may serve only the number of named users (seat licenses) for which the Network License has been purchased
--	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------